

YOU CAN SAY THAT AGAIN!

Jessa Bekker

Acapela, Belgium

Speech is the most natural form of communication. You use it to joke around with friends, brainstorm about research ideas, and tell your family you love them. But speech does more than just delivering the spoken message. It can sound empathetic, resolute, or even sheltering. How you say something is often equally important as what you say. This talk is about artificial voices and how to make them more expressive.