

WHERE ARE THE FRONTIERS OF SCIENCE?

Leland H. Hartwell

Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine Winner

Each generation of scientists begins where the last left off. You, the scientists of tomorrow, will need to decide where the frontier for your work begins and use your talents to explore the unknown.

I will suggest two frontiers for your consideration and how the two frontiers converge at the social sciences.